Venue

Kharkiv National University is one of the oldest universities in Eastern Europe. It was founded in November 1804 on the initiative of the outstanding educator V. N. Karazin, according to the diploma of Alexander I.

The grand opening of the university took place on January 29, 1805. The university has written many bright pages in the history of the Ukrainian national revival of the XIX-XX centuries, gave a powerful impetus to the transformation of Kharkiv into a major scientific and cultural center, the educational capital of Ukraine, rightfully occupies the highest levels of all-Ukrainian and world rankings.

The Educational and Scientific Institute of Ecology was established in 2019 on the basis of the Faculty of Ecology, integrating scientific and educational activities in the field of ecology. The conference is organized by the Department of Environmental Monitoring and Nature Management - one of the 3 departments of NNIE, founded in 2007 together with the Faculty of Ecology.
